VILLA SPARINA & CONTE DI ALARI

Villa Sparina is a family estate in the Gavi district of Piedmont, an area that has specialised in growing Barbera, Dolcetto, and most notably the white grape Cortese for more than 1,000 years. Here the Moccagatta family, who own Sparina, produce exquisite wines. The wines are easily recognisable by their distinctive amphora bottle shape (inspired by an ancient bottle found during the excavation while restoring the estate). Villa Sparina's vineyards are dotted around the Monterotondo hills and grow in predominantly clay-marl and clay-limestone soils. The mainly south facing vineyards are between 300 and 400 meters above sea level and benefit from the Ligurian sea's cooling breezes, approximately 40km away Villa Sparina was named European Winery of the Year for 2021 by Wine Enthusiast magazine.

OLTRETORRENTE*Certified Organic*

Oltretorrente is a small, independent, artisanal, family-run, boutique winery set on top of the hills of the Tortona region. After several years spent working as agronomists for other wineries, Chiara and Michele decided to start their own wine adventure. At Oltretorrente they have been protecting and maintaining very old vines planted up to a century ago (five ha of vineyards are 20 to 100 years old), in order to make wines that can embody all the history and biodiversity they come with. The big aim is a balance between preserving the legacy, which the old farmers left them, and making high quality wines from these old vineyards with an organic approach, in order to best express the history, soil, and identity of the area.

CASTELLO DI NEIVE

The Castello di Neive is owned by the Stupino family who purchased the 17th century castle in 1964. Giacomo Stupino replanted the Santo Stefano vineyards which had fallen fallow, predicting their worth. It was a wise choice - Bruno Giacosa describes this vineyard as the best in Barbaresco. Italo Stupino has developed a scientific approach to the vineyard and to the countryside. Questioning, researching, trying and learning: since the 1970's the collaboration with the University of Turin has allowed Italo to enter the world of wine with a frame of mind which, still nowadays, enables him to face the challenges of a continuously evolving market. Tradition, research and creativity: this is the philosophy of Castello di Neive, a company, which, without overlooking the heritage of centuries of winemaking, is ready to take risks and to experiment.

MARCO BRANGERO

The family-run Brangero farm is located in Diano d'Alba, on the highest part of the hill in front of the town. A splendid view of the Langhe hills, the beautiful town of Alba, the vines that surround the building and the most favorable climatic and expositive position.

Whilst modern winemaking is a feature of the estate, Brangero continues to uphold the traditions of previous generations, preferring to limit intervention as much as possible. This is very notable with regards to his Barolo wine, which sees long maceration on skins and extended time in barrel.

Understanding and interpreting the territory, the environment and the vine is the basis for obtaining excellent wines, recognizable and with personality.

ORLANDO ABRIGO

Giovanni's grandparents were winemakers who sold their grapes at the market in Alba. His father Orlando returned to winemaking in 1973, proudly welcoming the DOCG recognition in 1981. Giovanni's first harvest was in 1986 and he has not looked back. New vineyards have been acquired (Montersino in 1996) and an avant-garde winery was built in 2013. Excitingly, Giovanni holds back a certain number of bottles of the best vintages, which he offers again at a later date. These historic vintages are in their prime and, as the critic scores testify, make stunning drinking.

We were incredibly impressed by the sheer power and elegance of the wines from Cantina Luigi Pira. They are serious proponents of Barolo's incredible terroir. Vigna Rionda, Vigna Marenca and Vigna Margheria are reputed to be the best in the township of Serralunga and this estate produces single vineyard Baroli from plots owned in all three of these crus.

"One of Piedmont's superstars... these are wines of extraordinary complexity and breathtaking richness. The spectacular offerings from Pira's vineyards in and around Serralunga d'Alba are among the more riveting examples." – Robert Parker

ENZO BOGLIETTI

In 1991 Enzo made and bottled Barolo from the fruit of his 3ha of vineyards. These 3 hectares, including small parcels of Brunate and Boiolo in La Morra, were partly the inheritance from his grandfather Matteo Boglietti and partly from his mother's side. Prior to 1991 all the grapes were sold to the local cantine sociali. But following the advice of his wine making friends, Enzo started his own wine adventure.

'Our first vintage -1991 was not an exceptional vintage, but the grapes we picked were pristine and gave elegant wines. Over the years, we have developed a finer, more elegant and more vibrant way of making Barolos. We have gradually diminished the amount of new oak and reduced the extraction during fermentation. All our Barolos undergo spontaneous fermentation and we do not filter.'

The Antoniolo name is synonymous with Gattinara. The estate was established in 1940 by Mario Antoniolo, a very motivated entrepreneur. He strongly believed in the potential of the territory and ahead of his time built a small winery and complete supply chain.

Today, the estate is run by Lorella and her brother Alberto. The low intervention wines from Antoniolo made from Nebbiolo (known locally as 'Spanna') provide great value and quality. For lovers of Barolo and Barbaresco, these wines are a must to try as worthy alternatives.

GIACOMELLI

Roberto Petacchi transformed his family business, a traditional farm, into a winery, with the aim of recovering ancient vineyards, (among these are Boboli and Il Giardino dei Vescovi) and to dedicate his life to the production of Vermentino.

30 years later, this has proved to be the right decision, as demonstrated by the numerous awards that the estate's wines have received in recent years in Italy and beyond.

The philosophy, from the very first steps, has been focused on the research of the least environmental impact and in the least possible use of treatments. In the vineyard they cultivate in an ancient and healthy way, to produce wines without pesticides, using natural fertilizers.

LA GINESTRAIA

Founded in 2007, the “La Ginestraia” winery is surrounded by the green of the olive trees and vineyards, on a small hill near the sea, a few steps from the ancient and characteristic Ligurian village of Cervo in the province of Imperia. It has a mild climate due both to the protection from the northern winds given by the Maritime Alps, and the gentle mitigation of the Ligurian Sea. Cultivation in Liguria is very difficult, as flat areas are rare, but it has been made a little easier thanks to the construction of "terraces" or "hills" by the ancient Ligurian farmers. The Pigato made here are complex and elegant and suitable for aging.

With 12.5 Ha of magnificent vineyards located in the Eisack valley, Oltradige and Bassa Atesina under vine and a small production of 72,000 bottles per year, Klaus Lentsch is committed to low yields and high quality. The vineyards are situated at 400-600 m above sea level on sunny steep terraces, and planted in clay and gravel soils. These conditions along with Lentsch's commitment to sustainable farming and production methods make for enjoyable, high quality wines.

PRIMOSIC

Primosic winery is located in the gently rolling hills of Collio. Bathed in the most limpid sunshine, with the Julian Alps to its rear and the sparkling Adriatic Sea to the front creating a micro-climate ideal for the vines. The Oslavia Hill, in the heart of the Collio, can count on two more elements that make it unique: the land and the wind. The soil of Oslavia is called “ponca”: a local dialect word meaning clay-type earth of Eocene origins. Its minerals are found most importantly, in the white wines. The second “friend” of Oslavia is the wind: channelled from the Isonzo River valley, the “bora” wind guarantees optimum ventilation and a good temperature range between night and day, all the elements required to favour the quality of vine cultivation.

Mastrojanni was one of the first producers of Brunello in the area.

VALDICAVA

The estate dates back to 1953 when Bramante Abbruzzese was offered the opportunity to return to the property in Montalcino where his ancestors were sharecroppers centuries before. From that time, Abbruzzese chased the vision to cultivate Sangiovese and to eventually bottle under the family name.

Bramante's grandson, the outspoken and passionate Vincenzo now runs the estate and has instigated systematic changes which have transformed Valdicava into one of the most collectible and sought-after Brunello di Montalcino. With just 10 hectares in the coolest part of the Brunello zone, he is probably the most exacting grower in the area, managing vegetation so that each grape will enjoy the perfect amount of sun and mercilessly thinning tightly packed grapes to avoid rot and diseases. The Valdicava property lies on a high plane north of the town Montalcino. Valdicava is the actual name of the valley in which the greatest single-vineyard wines of Brunello are produced. In the middle of this valley sits the grand Madonna del Piano vineyard along with the Valdicava estate.

ANTONELLI SAN MARCO

The entire estate comprises 170 ha of land in the Montefalco DOC appellation area, 40 of which are devoted to vineyards, the rest is covered with olive trees and farmland. The hilly area is an ideal microclimate for vineyards, which are planted on slopes with an average altitude of 350 m.

Antonelli San Marco specialises in the varieties of Umbria - and in particular the exclusive Montefalco varietal -Sagrantino. Careful focus and study on soil structure and sun exposure has deepened understanding of the red grape and led to particular vineyards being isolated for Sagrantino Cru. Antonelli have also revived the almost extinct (but incredibly versatile) white varietal Trebbiano Spoletino, experimenting successfully with long skin maceration in ceramic amphora to create 'Anteprima Tonda' and also spontaneous fermentation in wood for 'Trebium'.

Cantine Volpi was founded in Tortona, in the Province of Alessandria in 1914. For four generations they have been unafraid to embrace new technology and ideas and are innovators and pioneers in wine production. In 1999 Carlo Volpi took control of the company and their organic portfolio was established. They use a form of "clean" agriculture without using any pesticides and chemical substances in accordance with the rules set by the organic bodies. The main objective is to maintain a healthy and biologically active soil. They only use natural fertilizers, such as composted animal manure and encourage natural predators of insect pests. They allow plants to grow in the vineyard in order to promote biodiversity. The team of oenologists lead by Federico Riolfo follow a natural philosophy. All the wines are bottled in the state of the art winery in Tortona.

Fessina vineyard is located on two lava flows dating from around 1300. The soil composition is very special, very light and powdery, full of pumice, iron and copper, with a great micro-oxygenation. Moreover the two lava flows created a nest, a protection, with a unique micro climate where the temperature can fluctuate 20 degrees in a day. They have an average age of 70-90 year old vines. But there are also some pre-phylloxera spots with more than 100 year old vines, the oldest at Fessina being around 150 years old. Everything is worked manually with a very low incidence by human hand. TENUTA ENZA LA FAUCI

Enza comes from a family of distillers but her heart has always been amongst the vineyards, and so in 2003 she embarked on her own project. Her small vineyard is planted on family land, situated at the mouth of the Messina Strait. The soil is limestone/clay with a strong presence of golden mica- a typical stone of Messina which contributes significantly to the sensory notes in her wines. The 300m vineyards are kept fresh by the Tramontane and Sirocco winds and surprisingly abundant rainfall for Sicily. And the vines are worked by hand, with total respect for nature and free of chemical herbicides, she jokes that her wines are more organically organic than 'organic'.

VIGNE SURRAU

Vigne Surrau is a new venture with age-old roots. The two core values which underpin the company's philosophy are tradition and innovation: tradition in choosing the grape varieties to be cultivated (Vermentino di Gallura DOCG, Cannonau di Sardegna DOC, Carignano and Muristellu), while innovation guides the winemaking where state-of-the-art equipment and experimental techniques are used.
